

Remora as guest speaker at USMMA Houston

On Thursday December 3, 2009 Remora was invited as the guest speaker at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy Alumni Association (USMMA) in Houston to present the HiLoad solutions. All the participants of USMMA are graduates of the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, and currently hold positions in the marine industry, thus creating a diverse and broad specter of the U.S. Marine industry in general.

Remora outlined the different technologies and loading philosophies within the field of offshore loading systems before introducing the HiLoad Technology as a potential game changer.

The HiLoad technology certainly intrigued the audience with its innovation and unconventional design, and the general response from the attendees was positive and curious. Remora received several requests for further information, and will certainly accommodate such wishes.

“Forums like these allow Remora to address a large number of Industry leaders at one time and hold a great potential for valuable input and feedback”, says Don Nordin, Remora’s Technology Solutions Manager.

December 15th , 2009

www.remoratech.com
